The Draft to Fill the Old Regiments.

[Special Correspondence of the Caleago Tribune [... Washington, August 20, 1334. One burdred and sity-six of our Usion prisoners arrived to day from Richmond, Just released by the rebeis. Among them are Paymaster Stack well, of Cleveland; W. V. Marx, Michael and Markey Stacks. lat Michigan regiment; Major Rainwort Sth Dilicole cavalry, and Adjutant Brunot, lat Michigan cavalry. These include all the South-western officers released.

The returned prisoners add tenfold to the horrors we have already had accounts of in the way of rebei atrocities. The'r stories are so shocking as to be utterly incredible, were not the narrators of known credit. The bounties pa'd and to be paid by the ounts to $7,000,000. Of these, $4,000,000 amounts to $7,000,000. Of these, $4,000,000 have been paid. For a day or two all other payments at the Treasury have been suspended, for the sake of closing these up. It is supposed that another day of two will pay off the remaining $6,000,000. These, of course, are merely the bounties paid by the national government. It is estimated that other bounties paid by State governments, counties, two corrections &c. will swell the amounts.

The demand of the world has been great, but ahe could not meet them. For more than a year not more than one-half of their usual crops have been produced. And remember the demand is always is increasing for all the steples of the South produced by neare labor. Remember that there is more cotton land, and rice and sugar now uncultivated in the South than there has been priced by a little planters who flourished there but a single year ago. Remember that this demand must be continuous from the labor of the blacks throughout the country will be drawn by attraction towards the South will be coincreased that all the blacks throughout the country will be the drawn by attraction towards the South and there be eating take-balf. So that so far from the labor of the blacks cashing to be indemand on the cessation of war and the rastoration of peace, the demand for the great-staples of rice, tobacco, engar and cortan-which will and must be scarce—will call the service of every black laborer into instantaneous and continuous requisition, and a new impulse, will be given to ever, branch of productive industry. The prosperity of the North, meanwhile, is not; to case. Capitla, enterprise, thrift, are still here smong us, and will be then as now; and we will not only have the same demend for labor with liberal wages, and the same reward for enterprise and industry, but, in my humble judgment, every branch of productive in the same demend for labor with liberal wages, and the same reward for enterprise and industry, but, in my humble judgment, every branch of productive in the same demend for labor with liberal wages, and the constitution shall be vindicated and peace restored."

The Wheeling Intelligencer copies the following article from a late number of the Richmond Examiner received in that city:

One of the most important duties that will devolve upon Congress at its approaching session will be to recruit the strength of our armies. The executive branch of the government has depicted our armies and jeopardized our contest by an easy toleration of desertion and straggling, which have reduced our military force to an alarming extent. It has trified with the cause of the country; it has ignored the death penalty in our armies; it has registed its discipline, winked at asystal crimes, emasculated the war, preached sickly sentimentalism, and tanght the country the misfortune of being as diled with a government that takes a mostrous and unnatural pride is defying public sentiment, is treating the counsels of the people with insolence, and in soubbing device with the air of successor.

It will be for Congress to repair as best if can the mischief done the public service by a weak and impractic-ble excentive; to look to the reduction of our forces in the field; the decay of military discipline; the demoralization of our armies, and the jeopardy in which

NEGRO WORSHIPERS AND NEGRO WORSHIP.

Not a class of sable men, who worship, nor the peculiar style of their devotion is meant.
Definitions are sometimes best made by description, hence we will catalogue some of the peculiarities of the worshiper, which will it dicate the mode of his worship with sufficient cleances, then having blown the tranpet and sounded the slarm our responsibility ends and our conscience is clear.

I. The negro worshiper will not permit his dol to perform any military duty whatever.
You may compile the husband of that drooping consumptive, the father of you pale, which without home or protector, the only son of the smitten widow to meet al the perils of a draft, to undergo conscription, but the negro must be shielded. He, by vir-tue of his race, is exempt. Law may protect but must not use him. Such is one article in the creed. the creed.

Some of our boys were disposed to Etck the seems hinto these pits. One fell in with a heavy dump on his face. The more himse proposed to turn him over. "O, that'l do," said a Union Missourian, for when he scratches he's scratch searchell." This is a hard story, I know, but I want you to see real war.

I stood in one place in the woods near the apot of the engagement of the 57th lilleois, and counted eighty-one dead rebels. There I saw one tree, even inches in diameter, with hirty-one unliet holes. Such had been death's storm. Near the scene of the last of the fighting, where the rebels precipitately retreated, I saw one grave confaining 137 dead rebels, and one side of it another grave containing forty-one dead federals. Several other trenches were in view from that spot.

One dead and uniformed officer lay covered with a little housing of rails. On It was a fly leaf of a memorandum book with the peneli-writing, "Federals, respect my faither's corpon."

Many of our regiments were paid off just previously to the battle, and our dead comindes were robbed of bundreds of thousands of dollars. The rebels were surprised and abashed at the apparent wealth of our army. They attired themselves in our uniforms, and rifled from officers 'runks tens of thousands of dollars. To show how complete and successful was the advance of the enemy, their advance guard isy in the woods on the 5th, witnessing our parades and reviews. One of our returned paroled prisoners, a mule driver, who was captured two days before the battle, has told me that he was taken through their whole army, which was camped three miles from ours the night be fore the statek.

A resident here told me yesterday that on the returnet of the rebel sruny from Shiloh, it was utterly routed and demoralized.

After the battle was over, we, formerly citizens, who had never seen blood or heard the biss of builet, gathered the magiled corpass of those we had known at home and joked with the day before—friends who were as full of life, hope and smbitton as ourselves—and builed them in biankets, or sent them home in boxes, with as little concern as possible, and went immediately to joking and preparing to fight agair. Princo All.—Dr. Allport has just returned from his Lake Superior trip, where he has seen doing the hyperboron and may now be by a large circle of friends. The military excort, on that occasion, consisted of the twhole of the 60th regiment, in command of Colonel Hongh. The music was supplied by Vase and Dean's Light Guard Band, and was peculiarly touching and appropriaty. Rev. Dr. J. C. Burroughs, President of the University, delivered the Fascard discourse, which was brief, cloquant; and impressive. The speaker, furing his remarks, paid a merited-tribute to the patriotism, moral worth, and social qualities of the deceased solder, and admonished his hearers, one and all, to secure a well grounded hope of future blessedness that would enable them to follow, with unshrinking trust, their departed friend to the spirit world. Rev. Drs. J. A. Smith and W. H. Ryder assisted Dr. Burroughs in the exercises. After the funeral discourse, an opportunity

The studies embrace a thorough and rigid course in English and German. Greek, Latin and French will be optional. Music, balcony and returned his acknowledgments. Loud calls were made by the crowd for a speech which the General declined, simply announcing that he was not a speaker but a soldier. A half hour was spent in receiving friends, after which the band discoursed more music and the General returned to his rooms.

The performance of the band descryps more than a passing notice. Their rendition of an operatic selection from Trougtors has never been equaled before in this city, and called down long-continued applause from the listenpainting and drawing are also taught by com-petent teachers.

We are astisfied that this Seminary offers' numual advantages to young ladies desiring to receive a finished education. The Tribune.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1863. It is always well that the punishment should fall on the heads of the guilty out where it has been offered, and right among the influences out of which it has sprung. Otherwise the difficulty may get no final solution. In no event would an administration be forgiven which permit-ted the contest, or any considerable part of it to take place upon free soil.

WELL DONE, ILLINOIS, Read the correspondence under our tell graphic head, and learn how the patrioti fire has swept the Prairie State. A mage freen record of what our citizens can d for the country. "The people will say the government if the government will d its part only indifferently well."

THE ILLINOIS STATE PAIR. THE ILLINOIS STATE ACT.

There is no doubt but wisdom marks the course of the directors of the Illinois State Agricultural Society, in following the example of sister institutions in adjoining States in the postponement of the annual State Fair the present year. The farmers, who are the life and soal of this organization, will thank the Society for this decision. This is a war year. It has easied for large sacrifices is stripping
